

Successful candidates of the MSc in Big Data degree will have a solid background in the following Computer Science subjects:

Databases

- Design: Database design, use of databases in applications, internals of relational database engines, dependencies and normal forms.
- Relational database: Relational model, relational algebra, and SQL
- Advanced topics: Views, transactions, and integrity constraints